

“Water and Sustainable Development” Autumn SchoolFaculty of Economic and Administrative SciencesFerdowsi University of Mashhad, Iran25 November – 1 December 2018*www.uni-marburg.de/naremDeadline: 30 October 2018

The Economics of the Middle East Research Group of Philipps-Universität Marburg in cooperation with Ferdowsi University of Mashhad, University of Tehran, and Tarbiat Modares University is pleased to invite applicants for the 2018 Winter School, which will be held at Faculty of Economic and Administrative Sciences in Mashhad.

We are seeking highly motivated students from above mentioned four universities to join us in the upcoming autumn in Mashhad.

The Autumn School is a one-week academic and cultural program, which is supported by German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) within the “Higher Education Dialogue with the Muslim World” program. The Autumn School will provide a great opportunity to expand knowledge on the political economy of natural resource management and to discuss with experts from Germany and Iran.

Applicants must submit the following documents in English to Mr. Ahmad Emamian (autumnschool.fum@gmail.com, subject line: Application for Mashhad Autumn School 2018):

- A CV in English (including transcript of records, skills, and main achievements).
- Evidence of proficiency in English language (strongly recommended, but not compulsory).
- PhD students: A short abstract (max. one page) of ongoing research.